

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	viii
Note on spelling and transliteration	x
1 Setting the scene	1
Sixties Britain as historical context	2
Sufism and sufi spirituality in the modern West	8
Beshara as a movement of sufi spirituality	10
Introducing Ibn ‘Arabi and the Oneness of Being	14
Concerning methodology, data collection and sources	18
2 Emergence and history	23
Rauf in London: a chance meeting?	23
Coalescence: the establishment of a spiritual centre	28
Reorientations	32
Emergence, consolidation and expansion of the Beshara movement	35
3 Spiritual education: texts and contexts	45
Study texts in English	45
Inside the School of Intensive Esoteric Education	54
4 Bulent Rauf as guiding figure	69
Origins	69
Approach as adviser and guide	81
Legacy	91
5 The Beshara perspective and the teaching of Ibn ‘Arabi	97
Why Ibn ‘Arabi?	98
Ibn ‘Arabi’s metaphysics as exposition of Absolute Truth	99
Ibn ‘Arabi’s teaching as universal	102
A direct personal message	104
The spiritual evolution of man	107
Preparing for the Second Coming of Christ	116
The Second Coming as new age: ‘universality’ and global unity	122

6	The spiritual life: culture and practice	135
	The end of religions and spiritual orders: a direct realisation of Truth	135
	Spiritual practices: origins and adaptations	141
	Islamic–sufi forms and interior realities	151
	The cult of saints	156
	An Uwaysi culture?	164
7	Projecting Ibn ‘Arabi for today’s world	171
	Beshara and Ibn ‘Arabi	171
	Avenues of engagement: bringing Ibn ‘Arabi into the wider culture	173
	Scholarly dissemination: the Muhyiddin Ibn ‘Arabi Society, Beshara and ‘sufi academia’	177
	Ibn ‘Arabi and his readers: spirituality for the elite?	184
	Ibn ‘Arabi (re-) constructed?	188
8	Beshara and sufism in the modern world	195
	Situating Beshara	195
	Sufism and the shifting sands of the West	207
	Modern Muslims, spiritual seekers and sufism	214
	Epilogue	233
	Notes	241
	Appendices
1	Sufism and sufi spirituality in the West: a working typology	405
2	The life and thought of Ibn ‘Arabi: recommended reading	406
3	A Beshara study session: Bosnevi’s Commentary on the Fusus al-Hikam	408
4	A Beshara dhikr	415
5	Life stories	417
	Select bibliography	451
	Index	470